OUT & ABOUT

Isla Mujeres offers
a quiet respite about 20 minutes away
from Cancun.

a narrow escape

Mexico's Isla Mujeres combines hospitality with tranquility

a thousand years ago, Mayas worshipped the fertility goddess Ixchel on Isla Mujeres—the Island of Women. Today, sun worshippers seeking an alternative to the hustle and bustle in the more crowded spots along Mexico's Riviera Maya savor Isla's sugary beaches and "mañana" vibes. About a 20-minute boat ride from Cancun across the Bahía de Mujeres, the island, just five miles long and a half-mile wide, maintains a village ambiance with boutiques, artisan shops and cafés lining narrow streets. Dining choices range from casually elegant to toes-in-the-sand beach spots; a must is Playa Lancheros for tikin xic (achiote-rubbed barbecued fish). Small-scale inns welcome visitors on every budget; one of the best for setting and value are the Nautibeach condo rentals on postcard-perfect Playa Norte, the hub of beach life.

Those antsy for action can cruise out to sea with a fisherman, hop on an ecotour to nearby bird sanctuary Isla Contoy, or head to Garrafón National Park—or its low-cost neighbor, the beach club at Hotel Garrafón de Castilla—for a day of snorkeling the reef, and ... yes, more sun.

The magic of Isla? You're never part of a herd. —ALLEN COX
